

Energy Consultancy Reports

The Process

A new EPC assessment will be undertaken via a site visit. A report will be produced using the collected data which will provide an updated report with standard recommendations.

A further summary/report using our exclusive tools, software and knowledge will also be produced, suggesting any further/alternative recommendations (where applicable) to improve the EPC rating (some of which may be more cost effective).

This additional summary/report will also provide you with recommended makes/models/materials to use that will be recognised and approved by the Government software, and therefore help in improving the EPC rating and when/if applying for any future exemption. These recommendations are not provided on a standard EPC Certificate.

Once the recommended improvement works are finalised (using the recommended materials), a visit to the property will be arranged and an EPC Certificate produced to reflect these recommended improvement works.

Please note we are unable to provide this service without a site visit or use an existing EPC Certificate. We are also unable to comment on an EPC Certificate we have not produced.
